

+one meeting people in a new way

by Sasha Khan &
Sebastiaan Van Eemeren

+one is a bracelet that shines a new light on meeting people. It scans the area for people with similar interests. Once +one has detected someone, it lights up red , the closer you get to your “match”, the brighter it becomes

When +one has reached its maximum brightness, or in other words, when the other person is in your direct vicinity, a button on the bracelet can be pushed. When this button is pushed, the other person receives a message on his/her phone. Now you can meet up!

PRODUCTONTWIKKELING

wearables
WORKSHOPWEEK 2015

Universiteit
Antwerpen